PROFILE

I am starting a new chapter in my life as a web developer and hope you will take this journey with me. I recently finished an intensive full-stack program at Rutgers University where I obtained vast understanding of front and backend software frameworks such as Ajax,Bootstrap,and React just to name a few. I love being creative and focusing on a projects that will increase my knowledge base. In addition, I enjoy working in a team environment since it enables knowledge sharing and learning from others. However, I am also able to work independently.
